NEXORA TECHNOLOGIES PRIVATE LIMITED

LEAVE AND ATTENDANCE POLICY

Document ID: NXT-HR-002 | Version: 2.0 | Effective Date: 01 September 2026

Policy Owner	Human Resources Department
Approval Authority	Head of Human Resources
Applies To	Eligible employees of the organization
Review Cycle	Annual or when business requirements change

1. Purpose

This policy defines leave entitlements, leave application and approval, attendance recording, working hours, absence handling, attendance regularization, and related employee and manager responsibilities.

2. Scope

This policy applies to eligible employees of Nexora Technologies Private Limited. Employment contracts, applicable law, client requirements, shift arrangements, or formally issued amendments may provide additional or different requirements where applicable.

3. Standard Working Hours

The standard workweek is Monday through Friday. Normal working hours are communicated by the employee's department. Certain teams may follow approved shift, support, client, or project schedules. Employees are expected to follow their assigned schedule.

4. Leave Entitlements

For this fictional demonstration policy, the standard annual entitlements are defined below. Leave is subject to eligibility, available balance, approval workflow, and applicable legal requirements.

Leave Type	Standard Entitlement	Primary Use
Casual Leave	12 days / calendar year	Short personal needs and unforeseen situations
Sick Leave	12 days / calendar year	Illness, recovery, or medical rest
Earned / Privilege Leave	18 days / calendar year	Planned vacation, extended personal time
Maternity Leave	As applicable	Pregnancy, childbirth, and related statutory entitlement
Paternity Leave	5 working days / event	Support following childbirth or adoption, subject to eligibility
Bereavement Leave	3 working days / event	Death of an immediate family member
Compensatory Off	As approved	Eligible work performed on designated non-working days
Public Holidays	As per annual calendar	Company-declared holidays

5. Casual Leave

Casual Leave is intended for short-duration personal needs or unexpected matters. Planned requests should normally be submitted before the leave begins. Emergency requests should be communicated as soon as reasonably possible.

6. Sick Leave

Employees may use Sick Leave when they are unwell or require medical rest. The employee should notify the manager or reporting contact promptly. Supporting medical documentation may be requested where required by company procedure.

7. Earned / Privilege Leave

Earned or Privilege Leave is intended for planned vacation and extended personal time. Employees should provide advance notice to support team planning. Requests are subject to available balance and operational requirements.

8. Maternity, Paternity and Bereavement Leave

These leave categories are administered according to eligibility and applicable company or statutory requirements. Employees should contact HR for the applicable procedure and supporting documentation.

9. Carry-Forward and Expiry

Unused Earned / Privilege Leave may be carried forward up to 30 days into the next calendar year. Casual Leave and Sick Leave normally expire at year-end unless an applicable rule states otherwise. Carry-forward or encashment beyond these limits requires HR confirmation.

10. Leave Application Procedure

Employees should submit leave through the approved HR or attendance system, select the correct leave type, provide dates, and submit the request for approval. Submission alone does not mean the leave is approved.

11. Emergency Leave

When advance application is not reasonably possible, the employee should notify the reporting manager or designated contact at the earliest opportunity and complete the formal leave request afterward.

12. Unapproved Absence

Absence without required notification or approval may be treated as unauthorized absence, subject to review and applicable requirements. Repeated or prolonged absence may be escalated to HR.

13. Attendance Recording

Employees must record attendance through the designated attendance system or approved method. Employees must not mark attendance for another person or knowingly submit inaccurate attendance information.

14. Late Coming and Early Leaving

Employees should report on time and complete their assigned schedule. Occasional delays or early departures should be communicated to the manager. Repeated attendance deviations may be reviewed by the manager and HR.

15. Half-Day Attendance

Where the attendance system records partial-day work, the applicable half-day threshold is determined by the employee's assigned schedule and attendance rules. Employees should obtain manager approval where leaving early results in a partial-day absence.

16. Missed Punch and Attendance Regularization

A genuine missed attendance entry caused by a technical issue, approved field work, or another valid reason should be corrected through the attendance regularization process. Requests should normally be submitted within 3 working days.

17. Work-from-Home Attendance

Approved work-from-home arrangements remain subject to attendance, availability, and working-hour requirements. Employees must remain reachable through approved communication channels and record attendance as required.

18. Holidays

Company holidays are published through the annual holiday calendar. Employees required to work on a designated holiday will follow the applicable approval and compensatory-off or other treatment process.

19. Manager Responsibilities

Managers should review leave requests consistently, maintain reasonable team coverage, address recurring attendance concerns promptly, and escalate policy interpretation questions to HR.

20. Employee Responsibilities

Employees are responsible for maintaining accurate attendance records, requesting leave through the approved workflow, communicating unexpected absences promptly, monitoring leave balances, and planning absence responsibly.

21. HR Support and Escalation

Questions regarding eligibility, balances, attendance corrections, exceptional circumstances, or policy interpretation should be raised with the Human Resources Department through the designated support channel.

22. Policy Authority

Where applicable law, an employment agreement, or a formally issued company policy imposes a mandatory requirement that differs from this demonstration policy, the applicable requirement takes precedence.
