Policy Owner	Human Resources Department
Approval Authority	Head of Human Resources
Applies To	Eligible employees
Review Cycle	Annual or when requirements change

1. Purpose

Defines a consistent performance cycle covering goal setting, regular feedback, reviews, development planning, and performance improvement.

2. Goal Setting

Employees and managers establish measurable role-relevant goals at the beginning of the performance cycle. Goals should reflect business priorities and expected outcomes.

3. Check-ins

Managers should conduct periodic check-ins to review progress, blockers, support needs, and changing priorities.

4. Performance Evidence

Reviews should consider documented outcomes, quality, collaboration, role responsibilities, skills, reliability, and agreed objectives. Decisions should not rely on a single incident unless material.

5. Performance Ratings

Where a rating system is used, ratings should be supported by documented evidence and calibrated consistently across comparable roles.

6. Feedback

Feedback should be timely, specific, respectful, and actionable. Employees should have an opportunity to discuss context and respond to feedback.

7. Development Plans

Development actions may include training, mentoring, stretch assignments, certifications, project exposure, or other role-relevant learning.

8. Promotions and Compensation

Promotion or compensation decisions may consider sustained performance, role scope, business need, internal equity, and applicable approval processes.

9. Performance Improvement Plan

When performance materially falls below expectations, HR and the manager may establish a documented improvement plan with clear gaps, support actions, milestones, review dates, and expected outcomes.

10. Underperformance Review

Failure to meet documented improvement expectations may lead to further action consistent with employment terms and applicable requirements.

11. Employee Responsibilities

Employees should understand goals, raise blockers early, participate in reviews, act on feedback, and maintain evidence of completed work.

12. Manager Responsibilities

Managers should set clear expectations, provide feedback, document material concerns, provide reasonable support, and apply standards consistently.

13. Confidentiality

Performance records are sensitive employment records and should be accessed only by authorized personnel.

Example Rating Framework

Rating	Meaning
Exceeds Expectations	Consistently delivers materially above agreed expectations with strong evidence.
Meets Expectations	Reliably delivers the expected outcomes and behaviours for the role.
Partially Meets	Some expectations are met, but documented gaps require focused improvement.
Does Not Meet	Material expectations are not being met despite appropriate support or opportunity.
